
Employment Opportunity: Oceanographic Technician for US and Global Expeditions

INSPIRE Environmental is hiring an Oceanographic Technician

We are a growing environmental science consultancy, based in Newport, RI, and looking to add an exceptional Oceanographic Technician (Ocean Tech) to our team. INSPIRE is an integrated team of skilled marine environmental scientists and analysts trained to interpret and contextualize data that we collect about the seafloor. Our team works together to provide holistic assessments based on geology, oceanography, benthic ecology, biogeochemistry, and fisheries science. Our projects are always diverse in scope and complexity and may take place anywhere in the world.

Position Summary

As an Ocean Tech, you will operate and maintain a wide variety of oceanographic instrumentation at sea in support of marine science research and offshore development projects under the guidance of a senior technician. The instrumentation will vary from remotely operated vehicles, navigation systems, camera systems, water sampling devices, multi-parameter sensor packages to bottom samplers. The candidate will be required to live and work at sea on US and international vessels of opportunity for days or weeks at a time for up to several months per annum. Skills required include but are not limited to the understanding of basic principles and troubleshooting of electronic, electrical, and mechanical instruments and machinery, computer networking, use of instrument-specific software applications, navigation, and seamanship. While not at sea the technician will be responsible for assisting with data processing and equipment maintenance. The applicant must be able to pass a marine health physical and drug test and complete sea-survival training.

Essential Functions

- Transport, install and operate oceanographic instrumentation systems such as sonars, cameras, vehicles, environmental sensors and sampling devices, and navigation systems on vessels of opportunity under the direction of a senior technician or a lead field scientist.
- Study and execute all safety and operating procedures.
- Test and maintain equipment in a “ready for issue” condition including all documentation, parts inventory, and peripheral support equipment.
- Participate in data processing workflow with staff scientists after data acquisition.

Competencies

- Excellent written and verbal skills
- High level of organization; attention to detail
- Ability to work effectively as part of a team
- Flexibility to adapt to changing schedules and priorities
- Valid driver’s license, a good driving record, a valid Passport
- Ability to pass a 10-panel drug test
- Ability to pass medical examination and complete sea-survival training

Desired Education and Experience

- 2-year Degree or technical certificate with emphasis on hands-on operation, maintenance and troubleshooting of marine equipment or instrumentation
- At-sea experience of 3 to 5 years participating in marine science activities

Preferred Experience

- Packing, transporting, and installing ship-board equipment
- Marine navigation
- Operation of oceanographic instrumentation systems
- Troubleshooting and repair of electrical and electronic devices
- Data handling
- Photography
- Scuba Diving
